TUNE IN FOR THE NEXT CHAPTER OF 'SEGREGATED WORLD' ---

2012.11.17

We made a new breakthrough with the Odin Core—we managed to extract enough of its data, so the power source of project Trojan, Segregated World, the Odin Core contains a self-correcting program. It's like the ridgeline universe, we've only managed to set a flag on a single planet. To this date, we only managed to crack 70% of its data...

—La Fo

My daughter turns 3 today. I originally planned on going to the amusement park with her for the day. The moment she stopped foot onto the park, Jack called me and told me to get back to work.

We've let the judopot and I find out that the decompiler worked! According to the data we've gathered previously, we managed to discover the opposing interference code —Trojan.

If we physically connect the Trojan to the Odin Core, it will activate the Odin Core's defense mechanism, releasing a large amount of energy. After preliminary testing, the energy output is around 4,432,000 Joules, the shutdown time is around 30 seconds, the field lasts for around 30 seconds. However, our main concern now is to find a method to contain the energy.

I'm regretting the fact that I didn't spend the day with my daughter.
